IMPORTANT INFORMATION

The difference between a Non-lapsing Binding and Non-binding Nomination

A Non-lapsing Binding Nomination is an instruction to the Trustee about who is to receive your benefit in the event of your death. The Trustee is legally bound to follow this instruction, provided that the nomination is legally valid and the person(s) nominated qualify for payment under the law when the benefit is paid. A Non-lapsing Binding Death Benefit nomination is valid for until amended or revoked and may be appropriate if your personal circumstances are stable.

A Non-binding Nomination is a request for the Trustee to pay your benefit in a certain way in the event of your death. It is not legally binding, but is taken into account. The Trustee is obliged to follow the law in working out who should receive a death benefit. A Non-binding Nomination may be appropriate if your personal circumstances are unsettled.

If you do not make a beneficiary nomination, the Trustee will consider all of your dependants and decide who receives your death benefit, taking into consideration your personal circumstances at the time of your death.

Who can receive a Death benefit?

A Death benefit can be received by one or more dependants, your legal personal representative (estate) or, if neither of these exist, another person.

A dependant is generally a child, spouse or a person with whom you have an interdependency relationship. Two people may have an interdependency relationship if:

- they have a close personal relationship;
- they live together;
- one or each of them provides the other with financial support;
- one or each of them provides the other with domestic support and personal care.

An interdependency relationship may also exist where there is a close personal relationship between two people who do not satisfy other criteria because either or both of them suffer from a physical, intellectual or psychiatric disability.

Examples of interdependency relationships may include:

- same sex couples who reside together and are interdependent;
- siblings who reside together;
- an adult child who resides with and cares for an elderly parent.

Special rules for Non-lapsing Binding Nominations

- A Non-lapsing Binding Nomination must be signed by two witnesses who are at least 18 years old and are not named as beneficiaries.
- This form is invalid if not received by the Trustee before your death.
- Only your dependants or legal personal representative can be nominated to receive a share of a Death benefit. Whether or not a person is eligible to receive part of your Death benefit is determined at the date of your death.
- Your Non-lapsing Binding Nomination will cease to have effect if you subsequently marry, remarry or divorce. You can amend or revoke a Non-lapsing Binding Nomination at any time by sending a new nomination form.
- If a person you have nominated dies before you or is not eligible to receive a share of your Death benefit, that person's part will be distributed equally amongst the surviving nominated dependants and/or legal personal representative.
- If you do not provide all details requested in this form, or if it is not properly witnessed the form is a Non-binding Nomination.
- If you fail to properly and clearly specify the portion (%) of your benefit payable to each person, it will be distributed equally amongst those persons nominated who are eligible to receive a benefit, providing the nomination form was otherwise valid.
